Mrs. Dorsey Tells Of Recent Tour

Mrs. T.D. Kendrick and Mrs. W.P. Windham very delightfully entertained the Elba Study Club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Kendrick. Low arrangements of pink carnations on the coffee table in the living room and on the buffet in the dining room gave color and added beauty to the party setting.

The refreshment table, overlaid with a handsome linen cloth bordered with handmade lace, was centered with a lovely arrangement of chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Windham served coffee from a silver service. Silvery trays of sandwiches and cookies completed the table appointments.

Betsy Inman presided over the meeting, led in the collect, and gave the devotional.

The club voted to invite Judge Stewart and Mrs. Harrison as new members.

Dianne Bryan gave a report on jazz. Freddie Johnson entertained the club with the song that will always be popular, "Saint Louis Blues."

Sara Warr, Angie Smith, Jo Ann Brazelton, Carole Proctor, Janet Murphree, and Gayle Proctor played an instrumental tune, "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White."

Refreshments were served to the twenty-three members present.

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

NOTHING IS MORE FUN than seeing old friends and reminiscing about high school days. The "re-member-when's" flew thick and fast at Alene Ziegler's recently when she and Spencer entertained her graduating class at a dinner party. This interesting event was stimulated by the Homecoming of 1961 which honored the class of '31. Since then this group has met annually and are enjoying strengthening the ties of friendship. Last year they planned a party at one of our restaurants and then were given dessert and coffee at Louise Hayes', whose gracious hospitality caused the conversation to roll merrily along into the wee hours.

Alene treated the group to a real turkey dinner with all the trimmings. She recalled the class colors in the delicate green cloth that covered the table and in the pink carnations that spread their loveliness across the room. There were sixteen members in this graduating class, but several were unable to attend the party. Mildred Parker Jinnright fell at her home the night before and had to cancel her plans to come to Elba. However, Doris and Gethel Pinkard, Louise and Charles Hayes, Hern and Louise Michael of Macon, Georgia, and Mary and Phillip McKinnon of Crestview were here.

Of course, the talk was much of children and grandchildren and ground rules had to be laid as to the time allowed each proud grandmother. Louise Michael informed the group that son Hunter has two children and Emile, whose sweetness we'll remember, is enjoying her nursing career in Birmingham. Louise Hayes brought along pictures of her adorable children of Becky

LAST WEEK provided the opportunity for several outings. Gladys Spurlin, Myrtice Cain and Mrs. C. O. Miller spent several days at the beach which was pleasantly quiet at this season and allowed time for much reading and conversation.

Dixie and Pete Dorsey enjoyed a two-day visit from Dixie's family when Reverend and Mrs. R. L. Hayes and Kathy drove from Phoenix City to see them and their dear little girl, Grace Waters. Lois Mills, Agnes Wilson and Barbara Cain attended the Color Show held at "The Enterprise" last week. This show, sponsored by L'oreal of Paris, was the first of a series which the group plans to attend. When they satisfactorily complete the course, they will receive a certificate of merit. And we'll look forward to seeing all the new shades of color that the mischief-makers will be wearing.

The football game in Andalusia certainly provided much of interest. The extra shows by the bands, with our majorettes looking chic in midnight velvet cut with high neck-line and long, snug sleeves; the cheerleaders looking cute and proving to have great stamina as they never wavered in their duties; the pleasure of seeing Andy's Homecoming festivities; waded to many people we don't see everyday—Mrs. Jim Reddick who was enjoying the company of her daughter and little grandson, who was clad all in red and who proudly held out his mittens for Jamie Moore to see—Dot Lindsey who looked stunning in a black coat whose white fur collar framed her dark hair most effectively—Paul and Billy Oggs, Martha Martin, Drexel and Neil Cook, Louise and Sam Collier, Anice and "Bray" and others.

ONE of the nicest things that happened at Homecoming was seeing the Bill Blatz, who certainly are a most attractive and congenial couple. They were playing host to her sisters (and we always recognize the Wilson children after having taught the older girls) who were enjoying all the festivities. Bill told us that he plans to move to Elba when he completes his studies this year and he and Sue will certainly be an asset. Sue is a registered nurse and is a good friend of the Summers before they moved here this summer. These are the type people we always need in our town.

With winter coming on, many foliage plants will soon be brought indoors. Many are well adapted to interior decoration if the proper environment is maintained.

Selecting a particular species should be determined largely by the light and temperature conditions in the home.

All house plants require light, but not all need the same light intensity. Direct sunlight shining through a window—or indirect bright light—both serve as indoor light for plants. Indirect low light levels are found on an inside wall or well into the middle of the room.

Temperature is very important. The majority of plants grow best at day temperatures of 65 to 75 degrees and night temperatures about 10 degrees cooler.

TIGER TALES

BY ALICE WILSON

Lamar Kelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron L. Kelley, leads the way for "Senior Tigers" in Review. Each week a senior member of the Elba Tiger football squad will be featured.

An all-round athlete, Lamar plays first base on the Tiger Baseball Team, coached by Ray Flowers; is key lineman at left tackle position on the football team and is one of Coach Wendell Hart's key punters, and he plans to play basketball this season.

Lamar is a four-year letterman with the varsity squad and has been a member of the "B" Club four years. For the past two years he has been chosen "Best Defensive Player" by the Elba J.C.s. Being well liked by his teammates, he has been chosen captain of the last five football games. On the field his number is "70" when dressed in white and "75" when dressed in blue.

Some hostesses become almost vindictive if a dieting male guest refuses second helpings; but slim female guests who go easy on the calories are rewarded with compliments and sweet talk.

She represented Elba at the National Peanut Festival in Dothan.

She is a member of the D.O. Club, F.H.A., Glee Club, and Junior Music Club.

The Junior Class is truly looking forward to the reign of these new officers.

TEDIOUS WORK

A bald-headed gen-eral walked into Corn's Barber Shop and said, "You ought to cut my hair cheaper, there's so little of it."

Mr. Corn replied, "Oh, no. In your case we don't charge for cutting the hair."

Without thinking, Dewey re-plied, "Wedding cake."

Alfalfa Whitmore worked her husband's way through barber college. They now have a tinsorial parlor on Stovewood Street. There's a sign in the window which says, "We guarantee your hair cut or refund your hair."

Just In Fun

Goin's-On At Gravel Switch

By Grandpa Snitch

Little Lucille McGee was visitin' friends with her mother. She was pleased to see two large cats sunnin' on the front porch. The cats, however, not bein' used to children, scooped and lookin' into the dark hole where they disappeared, she called out, "I know lots of cats that like me."

Effie Horton's been takin' singin' lessons. But there ain't much hope for her. She still ain't the whole church service when she gets to the choir. The other day she said to Clem Potter, "Don't you think my voice sounds good in public?" Clem hesitated, then said, "Well, yes, I suppose so; that is, if you join our school. She in singin' the National Anthem."

Randy Rainwater's teacher asked him, "If a farmer has 5,000 bushels of corn to market at $1.20 a bushel, what would he get?" Came the prompt reply, "A government loan."

Rambling Roses and Flying Bricks

By Earl Tucker

You have heard people say, "The trouble with this country is..." and you're going to hear it said more and more in the years ahead. The ones who say this are the unemployed,
the lazy, the retired, and the ill. These people have more time to think up things that are wrong with the country. If they would simply let it go at that, there wouldn't be any problem,
but some of 'em like me,
can and do create additional problems by attempting to cure minor ones.
For what seems like a century but actually less than a year, I have either been on my way to a hospital, in one, on my way back, or loading around the house thinking up things.

Last week I thought up a ripoff and it could be the ruin of this country.
What happened was that, within a 3 day period, three pick-up trucks stopped at my house to read a meter. First it was the electric company,
followed by the gas company's meter reader and then the water department's meter reader. One of the trucks had a combination driver-reader, the other two having a driver and a reader, for a grand total of five people.

These men will go back and report their readings and three companies will send me three bills, for a total postage cost of 12¢
and I will send three checks for a total postage cost of 15¢. Now what my sick brain thought up was how come all three of the companies couldn't go in together and hire one guy to do all the reading at my house and then having a billing company send me
one notice, which would save them 3¢ and I could write one check, saving me 10¢. This same system, if used across the country, would mean a saving to the companies and to the customers of several million dollars. It might be more than that, but I'm certainly not going to try to figure it out, feeling as I do, that I have already made my contribution by thinking up the plan. Somebody else, with a stick mind, can figure out exactly what the saving would be.

In fact, I have started on another project anyway. It seems like the postoffice department would save a lot of money by cutting out a lot of employees on account of there being so much less mail
with a one-bill, one-check system, but the government does not like to fire people in odd years, because odd years are followed by even years, which are known as election years,

and no firing is done in even years. So what happens is that they have to increase postal rates so they can keep everybody working without having too much of a deficit in the postal department and they might even hire a few extra workers to think up things like numbers. That, of course, was a good idea, but the main trouble is that the only zip number anybody knows is his own town's and this does not mean much of a saving,

because the letter is already there.

Too, while the postal people are having all their troubles, the gas company,
the electric company and what a majority of the people want done, this country is going to be in a real bad shape. It's going to be in a worse shape if people like me don't quit thinking.

Wright Speaks Out Against Release Of Information Veterans Administration

State Commander of the American Legion speaks out against release of information from veterans administration files. Alton Wright, Department Commander for the American Legion, states that he feels the release of the information pertaining to Governor George C. Wallace's disability is a deplorable thing. Commander Wright states that all disabilities of combat veterans is private and personal and it is in violation of the law for it to be publicly released without permission of the veteran.

Mr. Wright further states that George C. Wallace possesses makes the violation of the release even more flagrant, if that is possible.

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

Forearm Fractures

Treatment of fractures of the forearm vary with age. On the average, treatment of a fracture in a child under eight or nine years of age is simple. Forearm fractures in young children usually heal and realign themselves so completely within a year that the site of the fracture seldom can be identified from an x-ray. Even in fractures of both bones of the forearm, satisfactory healing can be expected if the extremity is immobilized in a plaster cast and simple straight alignment maintained. In the older child, the restorative qualities begin to change and the child assumes characteristics of the adult patient. In the adolescent child, fractures of the forearm are considered in the same light as in the adult patient. Many forearm fractures can be returned to their proper position and the bones aligned satisfactorily by closed reduction without cutting. However, fractures are often seen in which there is total displacement at the fracture site in one or both bones. In these instances, open reduction is called for and often internal fixation too, which involves the fastening together of the ends of the broken bone with wire, screws, or nails.

In the very young child with a fractured forearm, the plaster cast is continued for a total of about eight weeks and for longer if x-ray examination fails to reveal satisfactory healing; for the moment the cast is removed from a young child's arm, he is going to romp and play and fall with his former full activity.

Intermediate Gas Acknowledge Stewardship

The Intermediate Gas of the New Brockton Baptist Church met at the church, Wednesday afternoon, October 30. The vice-president, Debbie Whitley, called the meeting to order in the absence of the president, Ginger DeVaughan. The hymn, "There Is A Name I Love To Hear," was sung by the secretary, Rosemary Bailey. The GA Star Ideals and the GA Alligance were repeated together by the group. The Prayer Chairman, Suzanne Wilkes, read the Prayer Calendar in the Tell magazine and led the members in prayer. Ramona Adkison took charge of the remainder of the program entitled, "Acknowledging My Stewardship." The following were on program: Ramona Adkison, Rosemary Bailey, Ernestine Bloodworth, Connie Burke, Debbie Whitley, and Suzanne Wilkes. Closing prayer was led by Suzanne Wilkes.

Double Heads HD Meets November 1

Mrs. Grace Green gave a helpful and interesting lesson on easy ways for ironing and folding clothes.

The following were present: Mrs. Stanton, Mrs. Wilson Clark, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Vernon Napper, Freddie Napper, Larry Green, Mrs. Oscar Clark, and Mrs. Curtis Chapman.

The hostess served delicious refreshments.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jerome Senn.

To Control Pesky Ants, Track Down Home Bases

When ants invade your home, the best strategy is to launch a counterattack at the base of their operations.

Trace the ants back to their source—usually a colony outside the house. Once the nest is found, it can be treated with an insecticide containing either Chlordane or Dieldrin. It may be necessary to treat your entire yard for effective control. If many hills are present, treating the whole yard will probably give the best results. If there are only three or four ant hills around, you can limit your countermeasures to the individual nests.

Rats Hunt For Homes During Cold Weather

Cool weather means apartment hunting time for mice.

These particular pests are a problem in Alabama and throughout the nation, especially in chilly weather. Rats, 100 million strong, cost Americans more than $1 billion each year. This $10 loss per rat breaks down to $3 for the 40 pounds of food he eats, $6 for other food he consumes and another $1 for damaged property. No dollar value can be put on the misery and death caused each year by rat-borne diseases. And they're at the worst during winter.

The South Alabama area meeting was held at the Daleville Elementary School with Mr. Harvey Hagler, Principal, as host. Thursday afternoon, October 24.

"The Cooperative Program—A Challenge to Curriculum Improvement" was Dr. Ellis's topic for the program. The twenty educators present were encouraged to have a healthy attitude toward change and to make changes in the schools to prepare students for living twenty-five to fifty years from now.

Mr. Marion Brunson, principal of Hillcrest Elementary School in Enterprise, presided during the afternoon meeting. Mr. C. E. Arnold of Brewton gave the devotional and reported on the State Committee Meeting.

The following school systems in the South Alabama area were represented at the meeting: Dale County, Ozark City, Troy City, Troy State College, Brewton City, Andalusia City and Enterprise City.

In The Closet

A man went to see a psychiatrist to be cured of his habit of collecting spaghetti. He told the doctor that the spaghetti was cluttering up his living room.

Household Hint

Washing sweaters is not difficult if you follow the manufacturer's suggested method, but it might be wise to tack buttonholes together first. This way they won't stretch during laundering.

Of Nursing

Students representing eleven states arrived at University Hospital in September to form the largest Freshman Class in the sixty-year history of the Hospital's School of Nursing. The enrollment of 101 freshmen-including 5 male students-more than triples the enrollment of ten years ago when 33 students entered the School of Nursing at the Hospital.

In reference to the new class, Matthew F. McNulty, Jr., General Director and Professor of Hospital Administration, University of Alabama Hospitals and Clinics, spoke of the increased enrollment as "a step toward fulfillment of one of the primary purposes of the University Hospital-that of educational activities."

McNulty indicated that "enrollment will increase until maximum usage of the new Nursing Student Residence is reached." The ultra-modern Nursing Student Residence is a nine story 400 bed structure which was only completed last year.

Activities scheduled to acquaint the new students with the campus and academic procedures included a "Welcome" party, faculty introduction, library orientation, student council discussion groups, health examinations and a tour of the Medical Center.

Among members of the Class of 1966 are James M. Brooks, Elba, and Eddie S. Hudson, Elba.

Recently reaccredited for a six-year period ending in 1969, the University Hospital School of Nursing is the largest three-year diploma program in the state.

Three Telephone Companies Assume The Name Of General Telephone Company

Three Alabama telephone companies assumed the name of General Telephone today.

Corporate changes have been made by General Telephone, according to H. E. Hussey, president of the Alabama companies, which resulted in the liquidation and dissolution of the United, Southern Alabama, and Jackson County Telephone companies on October 31. United Telephone & Telegraph Co. became General Telephone Co. of Southern Alabama, while Southern Alabama Telephone Co. and Jackson County Telephone Co. became General Telephone Co. of Alabama.

These companies have been a part of the General System since their purchase by General Telephone & Electronics Corp. in December 1961. For nearly two years, these companies have operated as subsidiaries of GT&E under three different names, Hussey said. These changes are being made in order to realize a greater efficiency in operations and a simplification of the corporate structure, he continued.

Since 1961, Hussey, also president of General Telephone Co. of the Southeast, has headed up General's Alabama properties. C.A. Swallows, vice president and general manager with headquarters in Dothan, has managed the companies since the original purchase and will continue to run the operation under the new setup with approximately 463 employees in General of Southern Alabama and 11 in General of Alabama.

General Telephone Co. of Southern Alabama will serve approximately 45,500 telephones in 30 different communities. Among them are: Dothan, Abbeville, Andalusia, Brundidge, Elba, Enterprise, Geneva, Georgiana, Greenville, Hartford, Headland, Luverne, Opp, Ozark, and Samson. Also included are: Banks, Columbia, Daleville, Echo, Forest Home, Cantt, Kinston, McKenzie, Midland City, New Brockton, Newton, Newville, Pinard, Red Level and Slocomb.

General Telephone Co. of Alabama will serve nearly 5,200 phones in seven communities. They will include Scottsboro and Section in northern Alabama and Ariston, Brantley, Clio, Dozier, and Louisville in the southern part of the state.

The General System's telephone operating subsidiaries, of which the Alabama companies are a part, comprise the largest independent (non-Bell) telephone system in the United States. It has more than 30 domestic telephone subsidiaries serving approximately 4,800,000 phones in 32 states. Some 5,900 communities are involved with a population over 13,000,000.

Three international telephone operating subsidiaries serve more than 630,000 telephones in Canada, the Dominican Republic and Haiti. General Telephone Directory Co. sells yellow pages for the telephone companies and publishes more than 750 directories for the General System and other independent companies.

Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., is General's largest manufacturing subsidiary and ranks among the first three domestic producers of radio tubes, television and other electronic tubes, fluorescent lamps, incandescent lamps and photoflash lamps. Sylvania has 41 plants and 33 laboratories in 33 communities in 11 states.

Automatic Electric Company, another manufacturing subsidiary, is the largest communications equipment manufacturer for the U.S. independent telephone industry and a major producer of electronic control equipment. It has three manufacturing facilities. Lenkurt Electric Co., Inc., an AE subsidiary, is the second largest domestic producer of telephone carrier equipment.

General Telephone & Electronics International, Inc., coordinates the manufacturing and sales activities of the General System in more than 80 foreign countries and territories throughout the world. General Telephone & Electronics Laboratories, Inc., has broad responsibility for basic research and advanced development of the General System's present field of activity, together with exploration of new areas from the standpoint of future interest.

Coffee To Furnish 6 Draftees

During November 493 Alabama young men will be called to the Montgomery Induction Station to meet the State's Selective Service quota, according to announcement made by Director Ralph W. Adams.

Adams stated the call for 493 men is Alabama's share of the National November Call for 17,000 men. The National Call for October was also for 17,000 men. All the inductees will go into the Army.

The Alabama quota will consist of volunteers, delinquents, and registrants who are unmarried, in Class I-A, I-A-O, of 22 years and above. The number of men examined and eligible determines the county quotas.

Covington County will furnish 6 registrants, Butler 3, Coffee 5, Conecuh 4, and Geneva 4.

Well, Now . . .

Often the soundest advice is spoken through false teeth.

Speaking of women— which is one of our favorite subjects— what a young man thinks he knows about them hasn't any relation to what he thinks he knows about them when he gets older.

The gate between Heaven and Hell broke one day and St. Peter, called to the Devil, "Hey Nick, it's your time to repair it."

"Sorry," Satan replied, "My men are all too busy to worry about fixing a mere gate."

"Well then," growled the good archangel, "I'll have to sur you for breach of contract."

"Oh, yeah," said the Devil, "and where are you going to get a lawyer?"

Household Hints

Puddings and saucelike thickenings with eggs have better flavor than those thickened with cornstarch or flour.

Play safe when using a cleaning solvent to remove spots. Work in a well ventilated room; don't lean close and breathe solvent vapors; keep bottle stoppered; and if you spill solvent on your skin, wash it off at once.

SUITABLE PHRASE

Old Ebenezer, the country town's meanest man, had died. The local preacher was hard put to phrase a respectable oration over the coffin.

Eventually he said: "Ebenezer, you are gone. We hope you are gone where we suspect you ain't."

Great Southern Land And Paper Company Now In Production

Great Southern Land and Paper Company, a new $57 million dollar pulp and paper mill located on the east bank of the Chattahoochee River at Cedar Springs, Georgia, is now officially in production, according to Peter S. Paine, company President and Chief Executive Officer.

Mr. Paine, who is also President of Great Northern Paper Company, long-time manufacturer of newsprint, groundwood specialties and lightweight coated papers in the State of Maine, said he was particularly pleased at the smooth startup. "It was remarkable; certainly the smoothest startup in my experience," he said. "Active in pulp and paper management for more than a quarter century, Mr. Paine gave full credit to the officers of Great Southern. "These men did an outstanding job," Paine said. "We are proud of their accomplishment."

The South's newest Kraft linerboard mill, Great Southern commenced shakedown operations less than three weeks ago. This week shipments are being made at the rate of 500 tons per day, and company executives anticipate a rapid increase to full production, or 700 tons per day, in the near future. "The market place has long felt the necessity for an independent producer designed to meet the needs of the independent converter," Paine went on to say. "Our new mill at Cedar Springs has supplied that need, and acceptance of our marketing concept has been outstanding."

Construction at the Cedar Springs, Georgia, mill site originally began in 1961 under the direction of the Southern Land, Timber & Pulp Corporation. The present concern, Great Southern Land and Paper Company, took over the mill late in 1962. Great Northern Paper Company has a 50% ownership in the new company; the other 50% is owned by the more than 20,000 Georgians who were stockholders in the original company.

Civil War Handbook Published

The 64-page booklet contains a double-page map, 78 illustrations, and discussions of such major aspects of the 1861-1865 conflict as causes, military campaigns, navies, diplomacy, arms, leaders, soldier life, and the war's legacy. Suggested reading lists follow each section. Author of the booklet is Doctor James I. Robertson, Jr., executive director of the presidential-appointed commission. The booklet may be obtained without charge from the U.S. Civil War Centennial Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

The special sale had been originally set for October 30.

The special sale was an opportunity for commercial hog growers in Coffee County to buy purebred hogs or open and bred gilts to upgrade their herds.

Paul Dean, of Hartford sold the top boar, a Duroc, to Grantham Bros., of Route 2, Midland City for $115.00. Larry Ford, of Gordon, Route One, was the consignee for the top Duroc female which was sold to Robert Stephens, of Route three, Elba, for $100.00.

The sale totaled $3,180.17 consignors participated in the sale. Thirty-four buyers purchased hogs during the sale.

The average selling price per head was $74.00. The average selling price for male hogs was $75.23, and average selling price for female hogs was $72.14. Average selling price for top 10 animals was $94.00. There were 8 open gilts which averaged $62.50, and 9 bred gilts which averaged $78.85.
